ALL SORTS.

It tried hard to rain yesterday out of regard for Mr. Foster.

Editor Sayers of the Mason Valley Tidings was in the city yesterday.

E. L. Buckingham attended the Reno Convention in farce, representing Lander, Nye and Humboldt counties.

A band of Gipsy fortune tellers is in town. If you cross their palms with silver they will rip the veil of futurity to shreds.

It is said that President Cleveland has received nearly a hundred letters suggesting that he sign the Tariff bill with the quill of a crow.

The new survey between Nevada and California cuts off a small slice of Douglas county and turns the Fredricksburg creamery into California.

As Warden Bell charges a dollar a day for the board of U. S. prisoners, the U. S. Marshall boards them with Storey County where the charge is but 75 cents per day.

There was a row in the Reno Convention over the platform, there being a majority and minority report. The white-winged angel of peace hovers not there.

They had a fight at the funeral in Reno. A resolution endorsing Jones and Newlands was voted down and now their friends say that the thing was done as a public snub and insult.

The Capitol restaurant will open Monday morning under the supervision of L. Bassett, with a chicken and ice cream dinner. He does his own cooking and his meals are 10, 15, 25 and 50 cents.

If the youngster who boomed us politically in last evening's Tribune will call at this office with his bill we will credit it on an account of some two years standing for supplies furnished while he ran the News.

Some half-crazy practical joker has been sending letters to the various papers announcing the engagement of two young people in this city who are not engaged. The toe of a boot would be an effective remedy for such boorishness.

Hardly any one from the Eastern part of the State attended the Reno Convention. They held no primaries and sent but few delegates, hence the shortage. They were able however to find enough people in Carson and Reno who could act as proxies.

It took L. Bliss two hours in the Clarendon Hotel to convince A. C. Cleveland that he ought to run for Governor to save the party, how long would it take the party leaders to convince the 4,000 majority for silver in this State that they voted wrong in 1892.

Nearly Lost the Child.

A few days ago a young Carson couple at the Lake who were stopping at the Glenbrook House had to rush away in quite a hurry to catch an excursion boat. After the boat had started the wife asked the husband if he had brought down the baby. "No I supposed you had."

The child had been left at the hotel and there was a great commotion. The boat stopped at Tellac and they telegraphed to the hotel people to unlock the room and see if the child was all right. This was done and the youngster was found to be sleeping soundly. It was restored to its anxious parents in the evening.

Funeral of Mrs. Chubbuck.

Mrs. Chubbuck was buried yesterday in the Carson Cemetery. The burial services were held at the Home ranch near Genoa, Rev. Nash of the Presbyterian church officiating.

A large number of Douglas county people drove down to pay their last respects to the deceased.

THE LAST SAD RITES.

The Remains of the G. O. P. laid away at Reno.

Yesterday at Reno witnessed the closing scenes of the obsequies of the Republican party of Nevada. Although very elaborate preparations had been made for the funeral the attendance was not what was expected. It had been arranged to have it later in the month but the Committee having the affair in charge finding that decomposition was setting in changed the date of the final interment. The corpse was liberally supplied with ice on Thursday and Friday in order to make it presentable. It lay there in a plain casket, the lumber composing it having been furnished by Yerington & Bliss of the Tahoe Flume Company.

Parson Fulton read the burial sermon in a voice choked with emotion and made a few timely remarks; "The awful cloud of grief now over shadowing us has a silver lining," remarked Mr. Fulton impressively. At the preachers allusion to silver there was quite a commotion, and several of the most noted friends of the deceased interrupted the speaker but were finally quieted by the singing of the hymn "There is a Golden Dawn." The choir consisted of Messrs Colcord, Poujade and Bliss Bassos, Bartine and Coffin Tenors, H. M. Yerington and Allen Bragg sopranos.

An old horse fiddle supported by the Reno Calathumpean band furnished the music led by Mr. McKinnon of the Enterprise who presided at the organ.

The closing hymn "Over the Carson River" with music composed by John Meder was sung, all hands standing. There was not a dry eye in the house. The cut flowers, sent by a number of ex-Republican office holders who skipped to California after being defeated for nominations, arrived in time but were badly withered. After the hymn the congregation took a last look at the remains, and then the little procession started for the cemetery. The following were the pall bearers:

Frank Emmett, Richard Rising, E. D. Vanderleith, George Richards, O. H. Gray and J. Torreyson.

Telegrams of condolence were received from Goldbugs in Wall and Lombard streets and gave the chief mourners great comfort. After the obsequies Enoch Strother was appointed a committee of one to draft resolutions of respect for the dead to be printed in type writer and circulated among the friends of the deceased.

Terrible Gas Explosion in a Washington Coal Mine.

Seattle, Aug. 24.—Shortly before noon today fire was noticed by one of the drivers in the sixth north level of the Franklin coal mine at Franklin. Notice was given to the miners working in the different places. Seventy men were working in the sixth level, and of that number forty lingered at the breast, six where the fire was, in an attempt to put it out. Three of those at the burning breast became frightened and fled. Those who remained were overcome and asphyxiated.

All had time to escape, but believing themselves in perfect safety they lingered. Smoke oozed out behind them and cut off their escape. All of the bodies were found within a space of 500 feet. Some were badly bruised, and one man had his neck broken, showing that they had thrown themselves against the posts and timbers in the gangway in their desperate efforts to escape. The majority of the bodies, however, bore no marks at all, and death was doubtless painless.

Volunteers were called for and freely responded. They went below and in a short time the bodies of their dead comrades commenced to come to the surface. Women and children commenced to gather around the mouth of the pit and scenes of grief were terrible. At 3 o'clock the last of 37 bodies was recovered and the people began to quiet down. The victims will all be buried tomorrow. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been spontaneous combustion, caused by the refuse and screening in the bottom of the breast, slacking and catching fire. The fire is spreading tonight to other breasts, and it is believed it will not be extinguished for three months.

Delegates Meeting.

Silver delegates to the State Convention are requested to meet at Recorder Ellis' office Monday night, Aug. 27, at 7:30 p. m.

THE BOYS IN BLUE.

Notes of Preparation For the State Encampment.

Tomorrow will be the opening day of the Encampment and everybody is anticipating a good time.

The new recruit has an idea of a week of vigorous hardship, sleepless nights and tough grub, but the man who has been there realizes that it is only a nice little picnic in which one is the lion of the hour and the admiration of the pretty girls.

The following is the programme: The daily routine of drill and instruction during the Encampment, from Aug. 27 to Sept. 1, 1894, will be as follows:

Monday—Pitching tents, policing camp, guard mounting and dress parade.

Tuesday—7:30 a. m., school of the company. 10 a. m., company commanders will report with a platoon to the Colonel for instruction in extended order; 3 p. m., school of the battalion; drill regulations, paragraphs 284, 289, 290, 294, 298, 299, 301, 312 and 315.

Wednesday—7:30 a. m., skirmish firing at target; 10 a. m., company commanders will report with a platoon to the Colonel for instruction in extended order; 3 p. m., school of the battalion; drill regulations, paragraphs 320, 324, 325, 330, 335, 336, 338, 339, 341 and 342.

Thursday—7:30 a. m., volley firing at target; 10 a. m., battalion in battle formation; 3 p. m., school of the battalion. Drill regulations, paragraphs 346, 349, 350, 352, 353, 356, 358, 359, 362, 363 and 366.

Heaping Insult Upon Injury.

At the last term of the Wake County, N. C. Superior Court at Raleigh, the following facts appeared: A little half-grown bull was on the railway track. He answered the whistle of an approaching train with a bellow of defiance and a toss of gravel over his shoulder. A tramp who happened to be close behind him stepped off the track and waited to see the fun. The engine struck the little bull fair, doubled him up like a ball, and sent him twenty-five feet as if shot from a catapult. The bull-ball made a line shot and knocked the tramp into a little pond near the road. When the engineer backed the train to take stock of the damage done, the tramp was crawling up on a log out of his involuntary bath. Under advice of counsel learned in the law, action was brought against the railway corporation for the personal injuries and indignity inflicted. On the trial, to the surprise and intense disgust of the plaintiff, the verdict went against him. To a sympathizing bystander he placidly remarked that he had been "bowed over into a goose pond by a little dirty poney-woods bull, and that a dozen jackasses had kicked him out of the court house."
